Elliott Management LLC

BY DREW ANDERSON

In a world where every day, more business, shopping, and financial decisions are made online, cybersecurity is more important than ever. Families and businesses alike must make sure they are protected from unseen cyber threats. Alan Elliott started Elliott Management LLC out of a desire to start a legacy of protection. His 20 years of cyber security experience have taught him that while technological advances often make life easier, there are countless hidden dangers if you don't know how to protect yourself. Elliott Management LLC aims to change the way your information, both personal and financial, is protected.

After the birth of his first son, Alan Elliott knew he wanted to follow in the footsteps of many successful Americans and start his own company. He decided to lean on his 20 years of experience working in the federal government's cyber security community, and Elliott Management LLC was born. Elliott Management LLC is designed to be the prominent cybersecurity assessment service provider for commercial, private, and government information systems and networks. "We take the time to understand what needs to be protected and the why behind it. From there, we focus on developing the best how, says Elliott." The goal of Elliott Management is to solve today's problems while preparing for and creating tomorrow's solutions.

Elliott Management's secret to success is the company's vast, real-world experience. Alan Elliott and his staff have years of experience protecting some of our nation's most sensitive capabilities and technologies. That knowledge has helped them design, engineer, and implement valuable cybersecurity and risk management strategies. It has also made them a leader in the ever-evolving cybersecurity industry. "Our vision, says Elliott, is to incrementally improve our position as leaders in the cybersecurity community every minute and every hour of every day." And with so much potentially at stake, it seems like a safe bet to turn to a company dedicated to utilizing experience and expertise to keep your data safe.

After growing up in Rochester, New York, and serving in the U.S. Navy, Alan Elliott and his wife currently raise their family in south Grand Prairie. Elliott serves his community as a mentor for the non-profit organization R.E.A.L. Youth Mentoring. When he's not focused on cybersecurity, he enjoys spending time with his family, mentoring the youth and improving his "Charles Barkley" golf swing.

When it comes to cybersecurity, Alan Elliott and Elliott Management LLC know that it is important to be proactive instead of reactive. According to Elliott, "proactively
